DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

1. Claim 21 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Applicant in figures 1 and 2, has described a filtering portion 18, at the distal end of the filtering portion 18 is a directional member 42. Applicant has not described in his specification or in his drawings, a conical shaped directional member. It is not clear to the examiner how the distal tip of a wire can be conical.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Application/Control Number: 09/476,689

Art Unit: 3763

2. Claims 1-9 and 13-22 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US Patent No.6391044 to Yadav et al.

Yadav discloses a cannula with associated filter. Yadav apparatus includes a filter portion constructed to be disposed in the vessel including a directional member 50, in figure 3, made from a pliable material having properties of blocking the passage of the fluid and the embolic and being expandable by the fluid flow in the vessel to maintain its outer periphery against the vessel wall in order to provide a seal against the passage of the fluid and the embolic through the pliable martial, and a filter member disposed interior of the directional member and made form a material provided for the passage of the fluid and for blocking the emboli. (also, Figure 9,5b,2 and col.3, lines 10-12)

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 8-19-2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant is claiming a filtering portion including a directional member. The applicant has alleges Yadav does not teach a directional member. However as stated in the rejection above Yadav does teach a directional member 50 as a part of the fitter portion.
